Event Type: Professional Skills Training

Date: 11/24/2009

Start Time: 9:00 AM

End Time: 1:00 PM

Description: The "best of the best" in library leadership share their insights and strategies for success in today's ever-changing social and economic environment. Developed at the Leadership Institute at Syracuse University, this workshop explores best practices, provides insights into how leading libraries are adapting to change, and allows attendees to conduct a self-assessment of their library. Participants can expect to acquire new ideas, fresh thinking, and new perspectives from some of the best library leaders in North America!

Location: South County Regional Library -Lee County

Registration Ends: 11/23/2009 at 5:00 PM

Other Information: David Bendekovic, VP, an executive leader with over thirty years of leadership and management experience, David has spent the past four years traveling throughout the United States, Canada, and Australia meeting, listening to, and working with leaders from many of today's best-run libraries. Over 4,000 people representing over 800 libraries have attended his leadership, marketing, and customer service workshops. His research and work in the area of library leadership began as a Program Director at the Leadership Institute at Syracuse University and continues today through his work at Polaris Library Systems. He also serves as a committee member for the Texas Library Association's Leadership Institute, is a visiting instructor at the University of Texas School of Information Studies and speaks at numerous national and state library conferences throughout the year. In June of 2009, David served as the developer, presenter, and program director at the inaugural session of the PaLA Academy for Leadership Studies.
