Dear Colleagues,

There have been MANY changes to our homepage and we have incorporated some wonderful new research tools for students and faculty. The changes are so significant that I believe the need exists for an in-house training session devoted to our homepage. Jane has graciously agreed to provide the training this Thursday, July 9 at 1PM in the Research Instruction Lab. Let's plan for a forty-five minute session. I would like everyone to attend so we are all on the same page when orienting students to the changes. Ms. Jill can make sure we have student coverage?

Bill
