A Warning from History: Human Rights in 1938 and Today

Presented by Dr. John Cox, University of North Carolina at Charlotte (Bio on next page)

John Cox is an associate professor of Global Studies at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, where he directs the Center for Holocaust, Genocide & Human Rights Studies.

Before coming to UNCC in 2011, John founded and directed a genocide & human rights-studies center at Florida Gulf Coast University.

Cox earned his Ph.D. in History at UNC-Chapel Hill in 2006 and his M.A. (History) at Brandeis University.

Dr. Cox has written and lectured widely on racism and genocide, human rights, and resistance to Nazism and other oppressive systems. He recently published a book on modern genocide and racism, To Kill a People: Genocide in the 20th Century (Oxford University Press, 2017). A 2nd edition, to be published in 2021, will add a chapter on the Bosnian genocide of 1992-1995. His other publications include a 2009 book on anti-Nazi resistance.

Cox's current research projects include a major co-edited genocide-studies volume, The Routledge Handbook of Genocide Studies, and a co-edited book on genocide denial, related to his Center's April 2019 conference on that topic.

John is also affiliated to Africana Studies, Latin American Studies, and the Department of History, and is co-founder and current president of UNCC's chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).
